Questions 164-167 refer to the following article.

New and Notable in Tarryville

Many in our small city thought we would never have a restaurant-delivery service. — [1] —. But thanks to two enterprising young people, we now have TVL Delivers! Alicia Kazarian and Theresa Cho were in their final year at the local university when they came up with their plan last May. “We were studying for exams one night and wanted to avoid going out for dinner. We were frustrated by the limited options available in Tarryville for food delivery. We wanted an easy way to find, order, and pay for our meals. — [2] —. But no such service existed here,” said Ms. Cho.

In an effort to fill the food-delivery gap in Tarryville, TVL Delivers connects diners and restaurants on an online platform that serves each of their needs. — [3] —. Restaurants can reach a broader clientele, and customers can choose from an impressively diverse list of vendors, select and order their food, and pay through one of a number of online payment methods, all from the convenience of their home or office. The restaurants partnering with TVL Delivers are spread across most of Tarryville’s neighborhoods and offer food options to suit any budget. — [4] —. “We think we’re off to a good start, but we already have improvements in mind,” said Ms. Kazarian. “Some food-delivery services promise that orders will be delivered in as little as 30 minutes. We hope eventually to deliver within a specified time, but we need to ensure that all aspects of our service are working properly before officially making that promise.”

The head of the Tarryville Business Council, Barry Porter, expressed enthusiasm for the new business. “Of course, I am always excited for a new business to open here in Tarryville. But this is a business that local residents have long wished for. And, with the recent opening of Crisley Office Park on the south side of the city, I am sure TVL Delivers will be a success.”

164. What is the purpose of the article?
- (A) To review a restaurant that just opened
  - (B) To interview a famous Tarryville resident
  - (C) To report on the construction of a new city building
  - (D) To describe a recently launched business
165. According to the article, what is NOT offered by TVL Delivers?
- (A) Guaranteed delivery times
  - (B) Online menus
  - (C) Convenient payment options
  - (D) A variety of participating vendors
166. What does Mr. Porter suggest about the businesses at Crisley Office Park?
- (A) They will soon move to another location.
  - (B) They will order from TVL Delivers.
  - (C) Some of them will be restaurants.
  - (D) Some of them will hire local university students.
167. In which of the positions marked [1], [2], [3], and [4] does the following sentence best belong?
- "We also wanted to be able to choose from a range of cuisines and price points."
- (A) [1]
  - (B) [2]
  - (C) [3]
  - (D) [4]

3 November

Rhys Tomasen
Hiring Manager
Slepoy Marketing Ltd.
Level 7, 500 Exeton Street
Sydney, NSW 2000

Dear Mr. Tomasen,

I would like to thank you again for the opportunity to interview for the position of staff photographer with Slepoy Marketing. Although I am disappointed that I was not chosen, I enjoyed meeting you and your staff. Your decision to go with another candidate does not diminish my belief that your company is a first-rate marketing firm, which rightfully deserves the many awards it has won.

Incidentally, during our meeting you happened to mention your upcoming mountain-themed campaign as well as the fact that your company often hires freelance photographers. I will be traveling in Asia for the next three months, and plan to shoot landscape photographs that might be appropriate for this campaign. Should you be interested, I would be happy to send you some of those pictures.

Thanks again for meeting with me. I hope to have another opportunity to speak with you at this year's Graphic Arts Conference in Brisbane.

Sincerely,

New Theatre Almost Ready

By Nigel Smith

LIVERPOOL (15 August)—Work is nearing completion on a new theatre, which will become the first new theatre in the city for the past 20 years. The Cricket Theatre, which is being built on the site of the former Fletcher shoe factory, will have an auditorium that can seat 400 patrons. The theatre will be operated by the Watts-Spicer Group, which owns three other theatres, two in London and one in York.

The venue is expected to open in October, said Watts-Spicer's chairperson, Colin Watts. "We have just completed the longest stage of the project, which was slower than expected due to back-ordered seats from Australia. We are expecting to open with the musical Backup on 30 October." The Cricket Theatre will host a variety of productions, from traditional plays to special engagements with artists of all kinds.

Cricket Theatre's Backup Is Wonderful

By Clara Kennedy

LIVERPOOL (2 December)—The Cricket Theatre's first production, Backup, opened last night to a full house. Theatregoers were clearly delighted by this new musical, which is based on a true story. Backup follows Babette Jones, a young backup singer for famous musical acts, through her 23-year struggle to become a successful solo act. Liverpool native Tami McClure, as Ms. Jones, thrilled the audience with her wide-ranging vocals. Paul Robinson, who played her fearless manager, also put in a strong performance. Costume designer Sophie Wright's fashions were exquisite.

Backup's strong production values and the Cricket Theatre's reasonable ticket prices point to a long and successful future for this new theatre. Backup runs until 5 February at the Cricket Theatre.

Questions 181-185 refer to the following article and online review.

KENT (26 February)—Stellar Chocolates is a local business offering a wide selection of handcrafted delicacies. With two shops in Kent, the business is well-known in the area. Recently, however, Stellar Chocolates gained national recognition by earning top awards from the Chocolate Council last month.

Stephanie Davidson, who co-owns the shops with Brian Markus, emphasises the sources and quality of Stellar Chocolates. “Before launching the business, Brian and I spent several months travelling to areas of the world known for quality cacao-bean production. We inspected the plants and learned about traditional harvesting and roasting processes,” she said. In fact, production started only after the co-owners had secured the finest ingredients for their products. They now incorporate a variety of other ingredients such as chili, basil, and even wasabi, to create a unique line of chocolates.

Demand for Stellar’s line has continued to grow, and the firm expects to open a third shop in Bath later this year. Ms. Davidson noted that they have found additional space in an old mill to be converted for retail use. “The new shop will be our largest, and we plan to establish a mail-order business so that we can ship not just domestically but also internationally,” she said.

Below the address bar is a navigation menu with four items: Home, Our Product Line, Customer Reviews (which is underlined and bolded), and Contact. The main content area displays a customer review. The review text reads: "Today I visited the new Stellar Chocolates shop that opened a few weeks ago in the former mill, expecting to see an ordinary candy store. What a surprise! I was delighted to taste some free samples while watching the chocolates being made by hand. I even had a chance to chat with one of the owners, who told me about the origin of their business. She met her co-owner ten years ago in a class at university, and they came up with the business idea for an assignment. They got such positive comments from their professor and fellow students that they decided to turn their idea into a career project. I look forward to many future visits, as the shop is just around the corner from my home." The reviewer's name, Cynthia Ragusa, is listed at the bottom of the review. The browser window has a standard scrollbar on the right side.

Canadian Dealer Meeting

By Josie Hopkins, Kuraki Now Staff Writer

Executives from Kuraki Motors returned to Toronto for an annual meeting of the nearly 1,000 Canadian representatives of the brand. The two-day event kicked off on Friday morning with CEO Katsuhiko Nakamuro, who gave a keynote address highlighting progress on the company's new manufacturing plant in Toronto. He was followed by Vice President Jiro Higa detailing increased production levels and expected growth. Attendees then had the opportunity to attend two days of seminars. But the highlight of the event was the unveiling of two new models, the sleek Daino sedan and Kuraki's new hybrid, the Pura. The models will be rolling into dealerships in August.
